Level 1 Award in Awareness of Substance Misuse

Course overview

More than two thirds of people aged between 16 and 59 in the UK admit to have taken drugs at least once in their lifetime, a third of whom admit to taking drugs at least once in the past 12 months.

By learning about why people choose to take drugs, the impact they can have and the laws surrounding them, we can all begin to gain a better understanding of substance misuse and the people who become involved with illegal substances. This nationally recognised qualification is an ideal way to begin learning about the main issues surrounding substance misuse.
